Chief Stewart Raps 'Police' Solicitation

EMILIE, Aug. 24 — Bristol Township Police Chief John R. Stewart, said that he and others on the force "are in no way connected" with solicitations being made in the name of the Pennsylvania Police Chiefs Association for a yearbook.

Chief Stewart said a businessman of Bristol Township recently handed $25 to a township police officer, to take to the chief. The merchant said he was told by telephone he would receive a courtesy card in acknowledgment of a $50 contribution, and he would get a deputy, sheriff's commission, after donating $100.

"We are not making any collections," Chief Stewart said. "We are not connected with it in any way, or with anyone who is making collections of any kind."

"The only thing we would ever collect money for would be a pension fund," Chief Stewart said, "and we are not doing that now."

Plans Underway For New School In Oakford Area

LANGHORNE, Aug. 24 — Plans are under way to make application for a new ten-room elementary school which would serve the Siles-Oakford area, according to an announcement by John E. Paul, Neshaminy Joint School Board President.

Paul said that the application would be made to the State Department of Education at Harrisburg for approval "within a few weeks."

Dr. Oliver S. Heckman, Regional Superintendent of the School District, will personally accompany the application to Harrisburg and follow it through, it was announced.

Paul said the decision to build the $350,000 school was reached several days ago, and official action will be taken at the next meeting of the Board.

He said the Board hopes to finance the project through the State School Building Authority, which handled the financing of the new ten-room wing on the present elementary school, Bridgetown Pike, Feasterville, at a cost of $220,000. The Board at present operates two four-room elementary schools, one at Feasterville, the other at Siles.

Several sites are under consideration for the new building, according to Paul, who said that the Siles-Oakford area is "one of the few left in the lower end of the county which is available to large building projects."

He said 59 permits were issued in one week to a project in the Lower Southampton area, indicating a building boom there.

Newtown Girl Gets Polio Foundation Scholarship Award

NEWTOWN, Aug. 24 — Anne M. Maurice of Linton Hill Farm, Newtown, as been awarded a scholarship for graduate study in medical social work under an educational program for which over $800,000 has thus far been allocated by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, it was announced today by William A. Rawak, chairman of the Bucks County chapter of the March of Dimes organization.

Medical social workers, according to Mr. Rawak, play an important role in assisting, not only the patient who is suffering from infantile paralysis, but also his family.

There is a serious shortage of social workers trained in the medical aspects of the field, he said. Consequently the funds made available by the National Foundation to finance its medical social work scholarship program are performing a definite service in helping meet the acute need for properly trained personnel in this field. A total of 510 awards have been made to date, Rawak said.

Miss Maurice is one of 33 residents of Pennsylvania to receive a scholarship under the program upon recommendation of a committee of leaders in the medical social work profession.

She is studying at Bryn Mawr College's Department of Social Economy, one of the 26 schools offering curricula approved by the American Association of Medical Social Workers.

Angry Insects Tie Up Bristol For 4 Hours

Bristol Borough patrolmen William Shire and Anthony Esposito, some professional tree-trimmers, five Consolidated firemen, and numerous motorists and pedestrians all have one thought in common today: "Don't show me another bee for a long, long time."

For about four and a half hours yesterday afternoon, the Apis Mellifera, or honey bee, held the upper hand on Radcliffe street, near Jefferson avenue.

Mrs. William I. Murphy, 1002 Radcliffe street, had a first hand view of the whole affair, since they were her bees—or, at least, they came from a tree on her property. She had called the three-trimmers to take care of some "old swamp maple trees" which had become rotted and unsightly. And, for a while, the tree-trimmers did all right at the job.

Someone decided to call the Borough police in on the affair, and that's where Shire and Esposito became bee experts. Shire tried everyone he could think of, and eventually reached the Rohm and Haas plant, who donated two quarts of DDT to the cause. Firemen, manning a truck equipped with a "booster" pump, sped to the scene and mixed the insecticide with 90 gallons of water.

The defendants, Robert Mitchell, 24, of Shelly and William Henderson, 25, of Newtown, pleaded guilty to both counts. Officers Henry Spinelli and William Bolton arrested the pair after seeing them putting a license tag on their car.

The tag was found to have been taken from the car of Wilbur H. Smith, of 108 Mill street.

Had Empty Gun

In testimony before Judge Keller, it was disclosed that Mitchell and Henderson had an empty gun in their possession when arrested.

Charles Clark, of New Britain, employed as a farm laborer, was sentenced to not less than 18 months or more than five years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on a charge of larceny.

Jersey Law Holds Youthful Firebug For Grand Jury

COLUMBUS, N. J., Aug. 24—Lester Barton Lee, 17, who admitted setting six barn fires in Burlington County, was ordered held without bail for grand jury action after a preliminary hearing Saturday.

The youth was lodged in the county jail at Mt. Holly after County Trooper George Dann filed four complaints against him before Acting Magistrate Milton Josephson of Mansfield Township.

The six fires left an estimated damage of almost $200,000 police said. Lee told police he set the fires because he liked to save farm machinery from the flames.

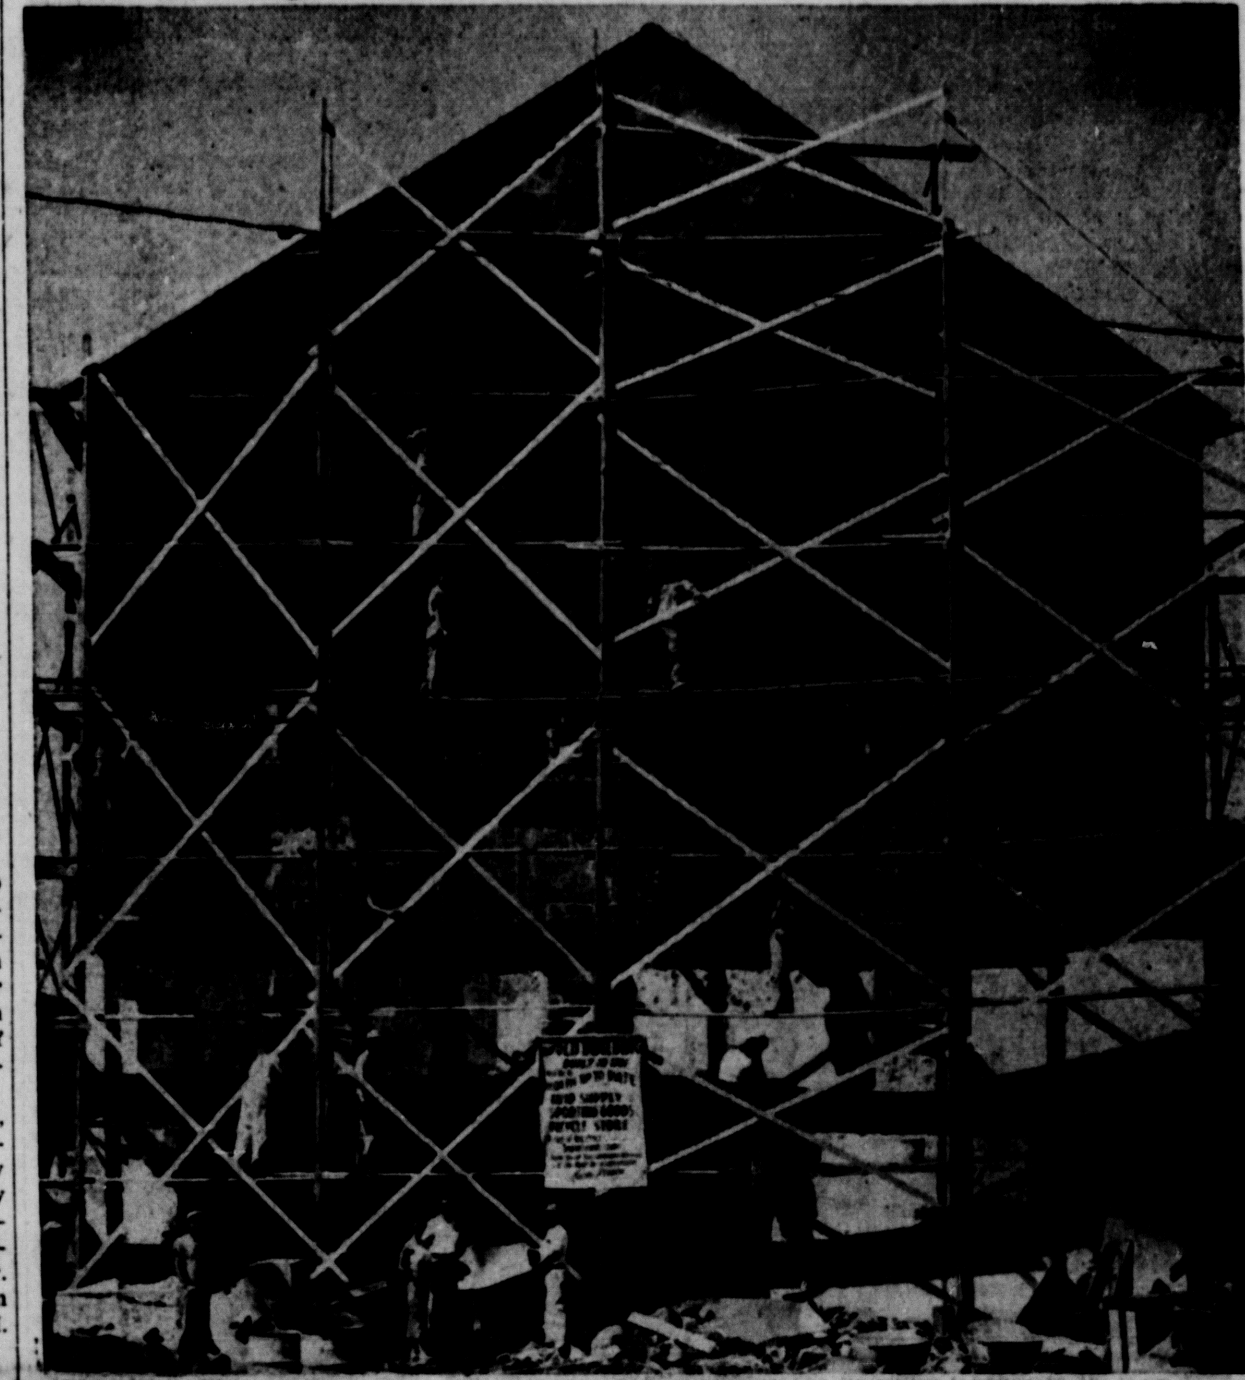

Lee allegedly fired his father's barn on Route 206, half mile north of here Friday after he had been released by State Police who had questioned him on the five other fires. The two-story barn on his father's farm was leveled.

Before the youth's arrest by Trooper Dann and Chief of Detectives G. Clinton Zeiler, farmers in the area were on edge and patrolled nearby roads nightly on the lookout for the firebug.

Congressman King Will Aid Viewing Of Levitt's Plans

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 24 — The street, curbing and sidewalk specifications of Levittown are on file in the Philadelphia office of the Federal Housing Administration, Congressman Karl C. King (R-Pa.), said today.

Congressman King said Levittown residents can arrange with him to inspect the specifications by contacting his office in Washington, D. C., or at King Farms.

The congressman said his secretary was told by an official in the Washington F.H.A. office that the F.H.A. "does not have general specifications for streets, curbing and sidewalks," but has a land planning bulletin, described as "a general guide for F.H.A. inspectors to determine if the specifications of the builder meet the general objectives of the F.H.A."

The F.H.A. spokesman, a Mr. Neville, suggested that a committee from Levittown view Levitt & Sons' specifications in the Philadelphia office.

Congressman King said he has sent a copy of land planning bulletin to Joseph Landow, of 2 Lavender lane, who made inquiries about the specifications.

The Levittown Civic Association last Tuesday moved to ask Congressman King, with U. S. Senators James H. Duff and Edward Marlin, to inquire what specifications the F.H.A. approved for Levittown. The congressman said he was not notified by the Civic Association of the action, and was not aware of it until called by The Courier last night.

Congressman King received a letter from Landow Saturday, with copies of letters written to the F.H.A. by six Levittown residents.

A Cruel Form of Punishment

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

A MOTHER once told me that the most powerful punishment she could use on her sixteen-year-old daughter, was refusal to talk to her for several hours or days. There is no doubt about the potency of such punishment, or of its ill effect.

It's hard for us to imagine how we could live through even half an hour refusing to speak to a child at all. It's harder still to fancy the suffering of the sensitive adolescent for so long.

Infantile Response

Punishment by refusal to speak to a child for a period is an infantile response. It's like a youngster of three or four who says to a playmate, "I won't play with you." Sometimes a husband or wife proceeds to punish the spouse in like manner. This always seriously mars future relationships.

Another childish mode of punishing a child (or adult of the family), is to just go around "mad as a wet hen," revealing anger in the voice, step or gesture, as illustrated by an occasional father or mother on the morning after a son or daughter has had a date of which the parents disapprove. All such expressions of disapproval, ways of punishment, rest wholly on emotions and have no reasoning in them. They all destroy desirable future relationships and do no end of harm. We parents just can't afford to act so childishly.

A Few Sensible Words

With adolescents and adults, we would be wiser to state our disapproval or point of view without passion, in a few sensible words, and then drop the matter. If, as with the teen-ager, we are sure some punishment is necessary, we should deny or reasonably withdraw some cherished privilege.

Of course, if we begin early enough and do well enough with the child, we hardly will find more than a quiet brief rebuke given in a matter-of-fact way necessary with the teen-ager.

But for the preschool child, even the child considerably older, some punishment may be desirable. Denial of a privilege may still suffice, especially after the age of four or five. Early spanking may be necessary to prepare the youngster to accept denial of a privilege later.

Value of Chair-Sitting

As readers of this column know, I urge the use of chair-sitting as punishment, to be introduced as soon as the youngster has learned to respect "No" (wisely, and therefore rarely, uttered).

Do you realize that when a child three, six or eight must sit unamused in a certain place for a definite period (about 20 minutes for the child of three, 30 minutes for the child of eight) he is effectively denied a very highly cherished privilege—the freedom of moving about as he pleases?

Trained well at three or four to accept denial of the privilege to move about for a definite period, the youngster is being prepared to accept denial of certain other privileges at a much later age.

A Cruel Form of Punishment

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
A MOTHER once told me that the most powerful punishment she could use on her sixteen-year-old daughter, was refusal to talk to her for several hours or days. There is no doubt about the potency of such punishment, or of its ill effect.

It's hard for us to imagine how we could live through even half an hour refusing to speak to a child at all. It's harder still to fancy the suffering of the sensitive adolescent for so long.

Infantile Response

Punishment by refusal to speak to a child for a period is an infantile response. It's like a youngster of three or four who says to a playmate, "I won't play with you." Sometimes a husband or wife proceeds to punish the spouse in like manner. This always seriously mars future relationships.

Another childish mode of punishing a child (or adult of the family), is to just go around "mad as a wet hen," revealing anger in the voice, step or gesture, as illustrated by an occasional father or mother on the morning after a son or daughter has had a date of which the parents disapprove. All such expressions of disapproval, ways of punishment, rest wholly on emotions and have no reasoning in them. They all destroy desirable future relationships and do no end of harm. We parents just can't afford to act so childishly.

A Few Sensible Words

With adolescents and adults, we would be wiser to state our

To keep employment high does not mean that every industry must expand, but that our total demand for goods and services — our stan-disapproval or point of view without passion, in a few sensible words, and then drop the matter. If, as with the teen-ager, we are sure some punishment is necessary, we should deny or reasonably withdraw some cherished privilege.

Of course, if we begin early enough and do well enough with the child, we hardly will find more than a quiet brief rebuke given in a matter-of-fact way necessary with the teen-ager.

But for the preschool child, even the child considerably older, some punishment may be desirable. Denial of a privilege may still suffice, especially after the age of four or five. Early spanking may be necessary to prepare the youngster to accept denial of a privilege later.

Value of Chair-Sitting

As readers of this column know, I urge the use of chair-sitting as punishment, to be introduced as soon as the youngster has learned to respect "No" (wisely, and therefore rarely, uttered).

Do you realize that when a child three, six or eight must sit unamused in a certain place for a definite period (about 20 minutes for the child of three, 30 minutes for the child of eight) he is effectively denied a very highly cherished privilege—the freedom of moving about as he pleases?

Trained well at three or four to accept denial of the privilege to move about for a definite period, the youngster is being prepared to accept denial of certain other privileges at a much later age.

Look what your FORD dollar buys !

Check the features below against any car in the low-price field and you'll see why Ford's worth more when you buy it...worth more when you sell it.

V-8 POWER is yours in Ford—but not in other low-priced cars. It's the product of Ford's experience in building over 13,000,000 V-8's! Ford's high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker Six with Overdrive, is the Economy Sweepstakes winner.

ROAD-LEVELING RIDE reduces front end road shock alone up to 80%. Wide front tread, diagonally-mounted shock absorbers take tilt out of turns. You'll discover in the '53 Ford that a car need not be excessively heavy to ride smooth as silk.

FULL-CIRCLE VISIBILITY is yours in Ford. With huge, curved, one-piece windshield, car-wide rear window and "picture windows" all-around, Ford has more "look out" area than any car in the low-price field. I-REST tinted glass also available.

ROOMY TRUNK is one suitcase bigger . . . bigger than any other luggage compartment in Ford's field . . . bigger than you'll find in many of the expensive cars. With Ford's Center-Fill Fueling, there's no long gas-fill pipe to eat up your trunk space.

SUSPENDED PEDALS make braking and clutching easier . . . allow more clear floor space . . . eliminate dusty, drafty floor holes. This feature, exclusive to Ford in its field, permits dash-mounting of brake master cylinder for easy accessibility.

FOAM-RUBBER CUSHIONS over non-sag springs in Ford's sofa-wide seats make even long trips a treat. And you'll find that only Ford in the low-price field offers this fine-car feature as standard equipment on both front and rear seats in all models.

FORDOMATIC DRIVE—an optional extra—is really two automatic drives in one. It has a fluid torque converter for smooth, steady power flow. It has automatic gears for greater "get-up-and-go." Ford also offers you Overdrive and Conventional Drive.

MASTER-GUIDE POWER STEERING—an optional extra on V-8 models—gives you the natural "feel" of steering on the straight-away yet takes the work out of turning. Absorbs road shocks before they reach the steering wheel—adds to safety.

Columnist Considers Sultan and a Tray

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (INS) — It is scarcely possible these days to tell who's on second in the Arab World without consulting the daily score card.

Farouk has been in the showers for months, the Sultan of Morocco joined him a few hours ago and the Shah of Iran just got out after a four-day dampening.

My interest in the fate of the sultan is more than passing since I own an unusually handsome coffee table directly descended from the sultan's nemesis, El Glaoui, the powerful Pasha of Marrakesh, one of the dream cities of the world.

El Glaoui was determined to get rid of the sultan. If all I heard of the pasha in Africa during World War II is true, then if I were the sultan I would simply turn in my uniform and get it over with. The southern half of Morocco is El Glaoui's province; there the sultan "reigns" but it is the pasha who rules. And no one is sultan for long except by El Glaoui's permission.

Many American service men in Morocco during the African campaign met and were entertained by El Glaoui. I never had the luck to meet or even see the foxy old campaigner. But I did have the pleasure of meeting his favorite daughter, a woman as beautiful as any houri of the Arabian Nights.

I was permitted to meet her, I feel certain, because her handsome Arab husband had been educated at the American University of Beirut. Some of our "dangerous" ideas about personal freedom had apparently rubbed off on him, and his wife was not as strictly cloistered as other aristocratic Arabian women.

El Glaoui had provided his favorite daughter with an education that would have done any woman proud and was most extraordinary for an Arab woman. She was not only beautiful, but witty and gay—and dressed in British tweeds!

Eventually she arranged a native dinner, or dinner, for me in her large, modern home in Casablanca. It was truly a feast for the gods.

Six of us ate in Arab fashion, seated on our feet, at a round table about 40 inches in diameter. The top of the table was obviously a huge tray of pure copper, elaborately hand-worked by Arab artisans in an Arab design interwoven with fleur de lis.

It was extraordinarily handsome, but the U. S. Army had briefed me in Arab etiquette. So I knew enough not to admire it openly, or my host and hostess would insist on giving it to me. But my looks must have been covetous as the hostess explained that it was old and had been a gift from her father.

For when I left the dinner, the huge tray was put into my car with me! As I started to protest vociferously, the American officer on each side of me kicked my shins black and blue.

"Take it!" one of them ordered. "It would be an unthinkable insult to refuse it. And besides, she really wants you to have it."

So there I was in Casablanca in the middle of a war with a copper tray that weighed only slightly less than I, and certain that the army would never let both me and it home! And bless me, if two days later I didn't run smack into the American vice-president of a big shipping firm who said he would send my tray home the next time one of his ships came in.

Six months later, when I was convinced my property was at the bottom of the sea, a strange man called one day, said he was Capt. So-and-So, and would I please call for my tray.

The Pasha of Marrakesh is a tough old party, and I am glad I am not the Sultan of Morocco.

But I am also glad I have the tray.

Your Birthday by STELLA II

MONDAY, AUGUST 24 — Born on this first day of the incoming sign, Virgo, you are ruled by Mercury, the god of knowledge. You will be ambitious, practical, have good judgment, and be very critical. You must guard against letting this last characteristic deteriorate into a nagging, fault-finding attitude—for that will lose you friends, faster than anything else in the world.

The stars have given you the gift of the written as well as the spoken word. You are a brilliant conversationalist, and, if you learn to use your critical abilities wisely and constructively, you can become a real power for good. You have a sharp wit and a keen sense of humor. Be sure that what you intend as satire is not merely sarcasm.

Original and inventive in your ideas, you are able to make yourself well informed in many branches of learning. Guard against scattering your energies or you may become a Jack-of-all-trades rather than a master of any one.

You have a magnetic personality and make friends wherever you go. You will be happiest if you wed at an early age for you are one who will want your own home and family. You are fond of children and will make an excellent parent.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—There is a field of preventive technique in government administration into which President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles could well do some exploration and study, in connection with the West German general elections which take place Sunday, September 6.

Most of their troubles in the feet-wetting days of their administration have been due to the absence of it—the failure to spot possible booby-traps in advance and take precautionary steps to avoid them.

One such was the deplorable and disastrous incident of Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce and her diplomatically uncouth statements about the recent Italian elections, which unquestionably played a major part in the downfall of America's firmest supporter,

LEWIS, JR.

Premier de Gaspari.

The precaution, in that case, would have been to never appoint Mrs. Luce in the beginning. With the fortune her husband has amassed, he could well afford to purchase a sizeable key in the Bahamas, and set her up as queen in a monarchy all her own, thus satisfying her ego in a really royal way. The British Exchequer could well use the money, and the present arrangement, by which the American public is paying her traffic seems definitely inequitable.

In the case of the German elections, however, the solution would be less complicated. All that's necessary is to warn the State Department diplomatic corps, and all personnel of the office of the high commissioner in Germany, that a single false move, in this case—be it from Commissioner Conant himself—will beget automatic dismissal, with no questions asked.

The Italian elections were important. These in Germany are vital. Three major groups are involved in the free German balloting, two of which, as the principle election-eering issue, are changing that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is too friendly and too cooperative with the United States.

One is the Social Democratic group, which stands for about the same degree of nationalization of industry as the Labor party in Britain. It currently is attacking Adenauer as being a sponsor of laissez faire capitalism, claiming that under his regime of the last four years, 200 new millionaires have been created in the Reich. The Social Democrats disapprove of millionaires.

The other is the Nationalist group, a combination of several ultra-conservative splinter parties under the leadership of a man named Ollenhauer, violently opposed to any nationalization.

Both, however, are pounding home the thesis that Adenauer has sold out to the West, that there must be no strings whatsoever to the restoration of an independent and completely sovereign Germany as it was before the Hitler rise. The Communists and Nazi followers are few and definitely not a factor.

Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, which presently seems to have about a 50-50 chance of maintaining itself in power, openly and frankly symbolizes German cooperation with the West, particularly with the United States. The role is ton correspondents and their wives at the White House.

The result of all this was to create an enormous propaganda brigade, partly official and partly unofficial, but all devoted to the promotion of the New Deal and its blithe leaders. The effectiveness of this was undeniable. Of course, it was greatly enhanced by the ingenuity and stupidity of the Republicans. Practically, they gave the New Dealers no competition—so little, in fact, that the Democratic propagandists, though occasionally forced to face some hard facts, mostly came to believe their own stuff. The blithe leaders all believed it. Combine this with the political minorities to which the New Deal catered, plus the wide opening of the Treasury spigots, and it is not surprising they held on so long. It was not until last year when the smell of corruption had permeated the country and the Republicans had gotten themselves a really glamorous candidate, that they were dislodged.

Naturally, they yearn to get back. Naturally, too, they turn to the methods that got them in—to wit, intensive propaganda. Recent attention had been called to this by the so-called "National Issues Committee" of which Mrs. Roosevelt is the head and whose membership is studied with the names of former Roosevelt-Truman Cabinet officers, smaller jobholders and literary aides. It is explained that the NIC has no connection with the Americans for Democratic Action though the duplication of names is striking. With Mrs. Roosevelt as its head the pretense of nonpartisanship is, of course, absurd and the conclusion is inevitable that the NIC is just another publicity agency with the same noble, nonpartisan objective as the ADA, the CIO, the Democratic Digest and others—namely, to bring the New-Fair Dealers back to the jobs, prerequisites and powers they so long and happily held. So, a rather constant barrage from these agencies may be expected until the 1954 elections. Though they generally recognize the facts, the Republicans and Eisenhower Democrats are not too discouraged at the prospect.

The chief reason is their awareness that Mrs. Roosevelt, Mr. Bidle, Mr. Schlesinger, Mr. Reuther, Mr. Meaney and other leaders of the NIC, the ADA, CIO, AFL and all those whom they can influence or control were solidly lined up against the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket last year and were most overwhelmingly beaten. At that time they also had the advantage of be-

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The NIC And Mrs. R.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 — Because the radio and television have made it possible to reach a vastly greater number of people than ever before the importance of propaganda in political campaign has grown amazingly in the last few years. So has the cost. But the potentialities are so great that the politicians seem to disregard that.

Before this period the Democratic party, under its multimillionaire chairman, the late John J. Raskob, was the first to grasp the fact that big money spent on publicity produced results unobtainable in any other way. This was back in 1929 before the great depression hit us. Employing the talented Mr. Michelson at $25,000 a year. Mr. Raskob launched a three year — and up to that time, unprecedentedly expensive — publicity campaign against the then President Herbert Hoover. It probably had more to do with the election of Franklin Roosevelt than any other single thing.

After 1932, under Roosevelt and Truman the Democrats developed political publicity to its highest degree. Not only did the astute Michelson continue as publicity director of the national committee but countless young writers were brought to Washington and put on the Government pay rolls. The city was thickly cluttered up with speech and article writers, idea men, poets, playwrights, commentators, columnists and literary lights of various kinds. In addition Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt originated a very effective strategy of flattery and entertainment of the Washing-

Six of us ate in Arab fashion, seated on our feet, at a round table about 40 inches in diameter. The top of the table was obviously a huge tray of pure copper, elaborately hand-worked by Arab artisans in an Arab design interwoven with fleur de lis.

It was extraordinarily handsome, but the U. S. Army had briefed me in Arab etiquette. So I knew enough not to admire it openly, or my host and hostess would insist on giving it to me. But my looks must have been covetous as the hostess explained that it was old and had been a gift from her father.

For when I left the dinner, the huge tray was put into my car with me! As I started to protest vociferously, the American officer on each side of me kicked my shins black and blue.

"Take it!" one of them ordered. "It would be an unthinkable insult to refuse it. And besides, she really wants you to have it."

So there I was in Casablanca in the middle of a war with a copper tray that weighed only slightly less than I, and certain that the army would never fly both me and it home! And bless me, if two days later I didn't run smack into the American vice-president of a big shipping firm who said he would send my tray home the next time one of his ships came in.

Six months later, when I was convinced my property was at the bottom of the sea, a strange man called one day, said he was Capt. So-and-So, and would I please call for my tray.

The Pasha of Marrakesh is a tough old party, and I am glad I am not the Sultan of Morocco.

But I am also glad I have the tray.

Your Birthday by STELLA

MONDAY, AUGUST 24 — Born on this first day of the incoming sign, Virgo, you are ruled by Mercury, the god of knowledge. You will be ambitious, practical, have good judgment, and be very critical. You must guard against letting this last characteristic deteriorate into a nagging, fault-finding attitude—for that will lose you friends, faster than anything else in the world.

The stars have given you the gift of the written as well as the spoken word. You are a brilliant conversationalist, and, if you learn to use your critical abilities wisely and constructively, you can become a real power for good. You have a sharp wit and a keen sense of humor. Be sure that what you intend as satire is not merely sarcasm.

Original and inventive in your ideas, you are able to make yourself well informed in many branches of learning. Guard against scattering your energies or you may become a Jack-of-all-trades rather than a master of any one.

You have a magnetic personality and make friends wherever you go. You will be happiest if you wed at an early age for you are one who will want your own home and family. You are fond of children and will make an excellent parent.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—A friendly day. Make new contacts both at home and at the office. Combine business and pleasure if you wish.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Penny annoyances can make your life miserable. If you permit them to, no matter what happens, keep smiling.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Hold to your regular routine if you want the best possible results. Don't experiment too much.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) You may meet someone today who will become a loyal friend for life. It could be romance, too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Everything should move according to a pre-arranged schedule. Follow your plans conscientiously.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Concentrate on your job during working hours and you will be finished in time to have plenty of relaxation, too.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—If invited to join a social group this evening, do so by all means. Broaden your activities. Relax tensions.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—If an opportunity to increase your business, or gain if offered you today, accept it instantly.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Being diplomatic, even under trying circumstances, will forward your project satisfactorily.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Daydreaming may be fun. But to get ahead in the world, you will have to be a little more practical.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—The aspects are not as favorable as they might be for you, so caution is indicated in all you undertake. (Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—There is a field of preventive technique in government administration into which President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles could well do some exploration and study, in connection with the West German general elections which take place Sunday, September 6.

Most of their troubles in the feet-wetting days of their administration have been due to the absence of it—the failure to spot possible booby-traps in advance and take precautionary steps to avoid them.

One such was the deplorable and disastrous incident of Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce and her diplomatically uncouth statements about the recent Italian elections, which unquestionably played a major part in the downfall of America's firmest supporter, Premier de Gasperi.

The precaution, in that case, would have been to never appoint Mrs. Luce in the beginning. With the fortune her husband has amassed, he could well afford to purchase a sizeable key in the Bahamas, and set her up as queen in a monarchy all her own, thus satisfying her ego in a really royal way. The British Exchequer could well use the money, and the present arrangement, by which the American public is paying her traffic seems definitely inequitable.

In the case of the German elections, however, the solution would be less complicated. All that's necessary is to warn the State Department diplomatic corps, and all personnel of the office of the high commissioner in Germany, that a single false move, in this case—be it from Commissioner Conant himself—will begot automatic dismissal, with no questions asked.

The Italian elections were important. These in Germany are vital. Three major groups are involved in the free German balloting, two of which, as the principle electioneering issue, are changing that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is too friendly and too cooperative with the United States.

One is the Social Democrat group, which stands for about the same degree of nationalization of industry as the Labor party in Britain. It currently is attacking Adenauer, as being a sponsor of laissez faire capitalism, claiming that under his regime of the last four years, 200 new millionaires have been created in the Reich. The Social Democrats disapprove of millionaires.

The other is the Nationalist group, a combination of several ultra-conservative splinter parties under the leadership of a man named Ollenhauer, violently opposed to any nationalization.

Both, however, are pounding home the thesis that Adenauer has sold out to the West, that there must be no strings whatsoever to the restoration of an independent and completely sovereign Germany as it was before the Hitler rise. The Communists and Nazi followers are few and definitely not a factor.

Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, which presently seems to have about a 50-50 chance of maintaining itself in power, openly and frankly symbolizes German cooperation with the West, particularly with the United States. The role is ton correspondents and their wives at the White House.

The result of all this was to create an enormous propaganda brigade, partly official and partly unofficial, but all devoted to the promotion of the New Deal and its blithe leaders. The effectiveness of this was undeniable. Of course, it was greatly enhanced by the ineptitude and stupidity of the Republicans. Practically, they gave the New Dealers no competition — so little, in fact, that the Democratic propagandists, though occasionally forced to face some hard facts, mostly came to believe their own stuff. The blithe leaders all believed it. Combine this with the political minorities to which the New Deal catered, plus the wide opening of the Treasury spigots, and it is not surprising they held on so long. It was not until last year when the smell of corruption had permeated the country and the Republicans had gotten themselves a really glamorous candidate, that they were dislodged.

Naturally, they yearn to get back. Naturally, too, they turn to the methods that got them in — to wit, intensive propaganda. Recent attention had been called to this by the so-called "National Issues Committee" of which Mrs. Roosevelt is the head and whose membership is studied with the names of former Roosevelt-Truman Cabinet officers, smaller jobholders and literary aides. It is explained that the NIC has no connection with the Americans for Democratic Action though the duplication of names is striking.

With Mrs. Roosevelt as its head the pretense of nonpartisanship is, of course, absurd and the conclusion is inevitable that the NIC is just another publicity agency with the same noble, nonpartisan objective as the ADA, the CIO, the Democratic Digest and others — namely, to bring the New-Fair Dealers back to the jobs, prerequisites and powers they so long and happily held. So, a rather constant barrage from these agencies may be expected until the 1954 elections. Though they generally recognize the facts, the Republicans and Eisenhower Democrats are not too discouraged at the prospect.

The chief reason is their awareness that Mrs. Roosevelt, Mr. Bidle, Mr. Schlesinger, Mr. Reuther, Mr. Meany and other leaders of the NIC, the ADA, CIO, AFL and all those whom they can influence or control were solidly lined up against the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket last year and were most overwhelming beaten. At that time they also had the advantage of be-

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The NIC And Mrs. R.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 — Because the radio and television have made it possible to reach a vastly greater number of people than ever before the importance of propaganda in political campaign has grown amazingly in the last few years. So has the cost. But the potentialities are so great that the politicians seem to disregard that.

Before this period the Democratic party, under its multimillionaire chairman, the late John J. Raskob, was the first to grasp the fact that big money spent on publicity produced results unobtainable in any other way. This was back in 1929 before the great depression hit us.

Employing the talented Mr. Michelson at $25,000 a year, Mr. Raskob launched a three year — and, up to that time, unprecedentedly expensive — publicity campaign against the then President Herbert Hoover. It probably had more to do with the election of Franklin Roosevelt than any other single thing.

After 1932, under Roosevelt and Truman the Democrats developed political publicity to its highest degree. Not only did the astute Michelson continue as publicity director of the national committee but countless young writers were brought to Washington and put on the Government pay rolls. The city was thickly cluttered up with speech and article writers, idea men, poets, playwrights, commentators, columnists and literary lights of various kinds. In addition Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt originated a very effective strategy of flattery and entertainment of the Washing-ing the "Ins" instead of the "Outs." Also the belief is that their propaganda has become repetitious and boring. Of course, there are many persons who greatly admire Mrs. Roosevelt but certainly there are many millions — perhaps more than half the voters — who heartily dislike what they regard as her smug, self-righteousness and are tired of her voice, picture and writing. On the whole there seems some reason for Republican skepticism concerning her new organization — some reason for belief that she, her aides, allies and agencies will be as ineffectual in the next election as in the last. There is nothing new about them. They were all together last time. They have not gained in either strength or numbers. Their game is publicity. But they can't win at it unless the Republicans again break the record for stupidity or "Ike" makes a fool of himself. Both of these things are possible but at this time they seem unlikely.

Text: John 1:47 — "Jesus saw Nathanael coming to Him, and said of him, 'Behold, an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile!'"

The world is continually seeking men of good character; men who will treat his fellowmen honestly. Often there are people around us of whom we think disparagingly, and yet they are God's children. Philip, one of our Lord's disciples, did not think highly of the Nazarenes, of which Nathanael was a member. But Jesus saw fit to call the Nazarene as one of His followers. This is a lesson which we must all learn. Your neighbor may be in need of the Christian gospel, and you may be the one to open the Way to him. Learn to cultivate friendship by being a friend to others. It has been said, you cannot be a friend unless you are a friend of others. Let us pray: O Lord, help each of us to do Thy will; send us Thy truth and Thy grace, that we may endeavor with our whole heart to live in peace and unity. Amen.

Does Your Nose Get Shiny?

Among toiletries that are especially helpful to oily skin is astringent. Pat some fresher on after washing your face.

By HELEN FOLLETT

PUTTING a dull finish on a shiny nose has been the beauty duty of millions of women for goodness knows how many centuries. Dabbing with a powder puff gives only temporary relief, however.

When a physician faces a problem, he endeavors to find the cause and treat it. So it should be with good-looks hazards.

A Matter of Diet

Oily skin is that way because the sebaceous glands don't keep when to stop working. The reason for this is a matter of diet. Eat too much fatty food and glands go on a rampage. Drink fruit juices, eat more vegetables, drink plenty of water and your complexion may become normal.

Local treatment is also necessary. Give your face a soap-and-water washing twice a day. Rinse with cold. Finally, apply an astringent.

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

There are toiletries that are compounded especially for faces that look as if they had been buttered.

Lightly Does It

Powder should be of light consistency and should be applied lightly. Use a little, add more if necessary. But don't wham on a lot and then rub it in. There are powder brushes that will remove the surplus.

There is a facial dry cleaning treatment that comes in handy if you have had a busy day plan to dine and dance in the evening. Pour a little eau de cologne on the moist, soft cloth. Barely touch the flesh with it. The alcoholic content acts favorably.

It is a good plan to avoid oily cosmetics. If it does happen that oily skin gets rough, apply a cream but remove it within the hour.

Stop that frequent powdering. It makes your skin mad at you.

1st Baptist Church Is Wedding Setting

Two vocal selections preceded the nuptial ceremony which on Saturday united Miss Clara Ann Bessinger, Levittown, and Mr. Joseph Alfred Ashby, 520 Radcliffe street. The musical offerings, by Mr. John Conyers, Edgely, were "Because," and "I Love You Truly." His accompanist was Mrs. Glenn Slaymaker, Edgely.

The Rev. William E. Hakes officiated at the ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Bessinger, 12 Midwood lane, Levittown, and the son of Mr. Turner W. Ashby, Radcliffe street. Mr. Bessinger escorted his daughter to the altar and palm decked at four p. m.

Her bridal gown was a strapless model of Chantilly lace with front panel of the skirt being of accented pleated nylon tulle. Her bolero was also of the lace, this having sleeves pointed over the wrists. A veil which fell to her fingertips was attached to a crown of seed pearls, this being of nylon tulle. Her old-fashioned bouquet was composed of white roses and angel feathers. Slippers were of nylon mesh.

The young women who made up part of the bridal party were: Mrs. Charles Jones, Newportville, matron of honor, in yellow; Mrs. Paul Bessinger, Levittown, sister-in-law of the bride, in pink; and Miss Carol Barnshaw, Phila., cousins of the bride, in blue. The latter two were bridesmaids. The trio had strapless gowns with Chantilly lace bodices, full net skirts over matching tulle, and Chantilly lace, cape-sleeved jackets. Picture hats were of net, these matching the gowns.

Flower girls, Janice and Nancy Bessinger, nieces of the bride, were in lavender. Bodices were of Chantilly lace, skirts of net over tulle, double lace ruffles appearing over the shoulders. Matching bouquets were of lace. Each attendant carried an old-fashioned bouquet of mixed flowers and angel feathers.

Mr. Albert Macys, was best man, he being a resident of Holyoke, Mass. Ushers were Messrs. Paul Bessinger, Levittown, brother of the bride, and Herman Welker, Edgely.

Invitations were issued to 85 for the reception in the church social hall.

Travelling to Wildwood, N. J., for a week's honeymoon, Mrs. Ashby wore a lavender nylon dress, white accessories, and a white corsage. The couple will reside in an apartment at Hackensack, N. J.

Mrs. Bessinger chose for the wedding a slate blue silk dress, pleated at the neckline, with pleated insertions on the skirt; navy blue handbag and slippers; pink hat and gloves, corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashby are graduates of Bristol high school, class of 1949. The latter has been employed

Pastor
Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church

Text: John 1:47 — "Jesus saw Nathanael coming to Him, and said of him, 'Behold, an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile!'"

The world is continually seeking men of good character; men who will treat his fellowmen honestly. Often there are people around us of whom we think disparagingly, and yet they are God's children. Philip, one of our Lord's disciples, did not think highly of the Nazarenes, of which Nathanael was a member.

But Jesus saw fit to call the Nazarene as one of His followers. This is a lesson which we must all learn. Your neighbor may be in need of the Christian gospel, and you may be the one to open the way to him. Learn to cultivate friendship by being a friend to others. It has been said, you cannot be a friend unless you are a friend of others. Let us pray: O Lord, help each of us to do Thy will; send us Thy truth and Thy grace, that we may endeavor with our whole heart to live in peace and unity. Amen.

The maid of honor was Miss Marie Missera, Bristol. Miss Marie Lithgow, Croydon, cousin of the bride, served as bridesmaid. The best man was Mr. Alfred Daniels, Bristol and Joseph J. Rauback, Jr., brother of the bride, was usher.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of Chantilly lace and satin. The lace bodice was designed sweetheart effect, with a V-neckline. It had lace sleeves, pointed at the wrist. ## Does Your Nose Get Shiny?

Among toiletries that are especially helpful to oily skin is astringent. Put some freshener on after washing your face.

By HELEN FULLETT

PUTTING a dull finish on a shiny nose has been the beauty duty of millions of women for goodness knows how many centuries. Dabbing with a powder puff gives only temporary relief, however.

When a physician faces a problem, he endeavors to find the cause and treat it. So it should be with good-looking hazards.

A Matter of Diet

Oily skin is that way because the sebaceous glands don't know when to stop working. The reason for this is a matter of diet. Eat too much fatty food and glands go on a rampage. Drink fruit juices, eat more vegetables, drink plenty of water and your complexion may become normal.

Local treatment is also necessary. Give your face a soap-and-water washing twice a day. Rinse away with warm water, then with cold. Finally, apply an as-

Now being delivered — the new
LOWER BUCKS COUNTY
TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

This week, before the new WINDSOR Dial Telephone Office goes into operation on August 30, we are delivering the new Lower Bucks County Telephone Directory to be devoted exclusively to this section.

Contains complete dialing instructions

The new Directory contains complete instructions for placing calls from WINDSOR telephones as well as from telephones in other Central Office areas in Lower Bucks County. Beginning August 30, please refer to this new Directory to make sure that you dial correctly, and to make certain that you know the right number. Many telephones now served by the Bristol, Hulmeville, Langhorne and Morrisville Central Offices will have WINDSOR numbers on and after August 30.

WINDSOR numbers will consist of two letters and five figures

All WINDSOR numbers will consist of the first two letters of the Central Office name... WI

plus five figures. This is the numbering plan now used in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and many other metropolitan centers. In time, every Bell telephone will be identified by locality, Central Office name, and five figures—for example, Levittown, WINDSOR 6-1501.

To make a call from one WINDSOR telephone to another, you will simply dial the letters WI and the five figures of the number you want. In the same fashion... by dialing two letters plus the figures of the desired number... you will be able to dial direct to telephones in approximately 100 other Central Office areas, including Philadelphia and Trenton and many other points in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. A complete list of the points to be dialed direct from WINDSOR telephones will be found in the new Directory.

LOWER BUCKS COUNTY
TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

This week, before the new WINDSOR Dial Telephone Office goes into operation on August 30, we are delivering the new Lower Bucks County Telephone Directory to be devoted exclusively to this section.

Contains complete dialing instructions

The new Directory contains complete instructions for placing calls from WINDSOR telephones as well as from telephones in other Central Office areas in Lower Bucks County. Beginning August 30, please refer to this new Directory to make sure that you dial correctly, and to make certain that you know the right number. Many telephones now served by the Bristol, Hulmeville, Langhorne and Morrisville Central Offices will have WINDSOR numbers on and after August 30.

Windsor numbers will consist of two letters and five figures

All WINDSOR numbers will consist of the first two letters of the Central Office name... WI

...plus five figures. This is the numbering plan now used in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and many other metropolitan centers. In time, every Bell telephone will be identified by locality, Central Office name, and five figures—for example, Levittown, WINDSOR 6-1501.

To make a call from one WINDSOR telephone to another, you will simply dial the letters WI and the five figures of the number you want. In the same fashion... by dialing two letters plus the figures of the desired number... you will be able to dial direct to telephones in approximately 100 other Central Office areas, including Philadelphia and Trenton and many other points in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. A complete list of the points to be dialed direct from WINDSOR telephones will be found in the new Directory.

Hospital Must Add More Beds To Get Federal Aids Funds

The Lower Bucks County Hospital fund reached its goal in 1951, a spokesman said today, but the tremendous growth of the area has made it necessary to add 50 per cent more beds before federal aid will be provided.

The hospital will get $1,244,000 in federal funds, he said, with the contingency that an additional $1,011,641.54 is contributed locally.

"It was the fault of no one that the original sum reached was not enough to finish the job — but it wasn't," the hospital spokesman said. "Thousands were being added to industrial payrolls month after month, and that is why a new campaign for what is called a completion fund is necessary. The total amount needed to equip the 150 bed institution will be $3,174,179.92. That is what it will take under today's conditions to finish the job," the spokesman added.

"Bucks County will face the new challenge and meet this emergency," he said. "There is no other acceptable alternative."

"We must have hospital facilities to serve our people and where there isn't a hospital bed available, no doctor can provide, and no hospital insurance can furnish or supply it," he added.

"For the patient who becomes ill and has to go to distant communities only to find all hospital beds are filled, it can easily be pointed out that additional funds needed to finish the job are not to pay for a new scheme or for 'frills'. These are for minimum requirements and the fact of the matter is a foundation must be laid now to anticipate that in the future, the hospital may need to double the present anticipated size."

"The people of Bucks County have never failed to meet an emergency, nor ever have left a job half done. We will not permit our own people who need modern hospitalization for recovery, perhaps to save their lives, to be denied these services."

"Bucks County will follow through again. Bucks County will finish the job."

Auto Boys, Franklin To Compete For Title

The regular season championship of the Bristol Softball League will be at stake this evening on Memorial field as Auto Boys meet Franklin A. C. Game will begin at six o'clock.

The two contenders for the crown ended their season with 19 wins and 6 defeats. At the present, the Auto Boys team is riding the crest of a six-game winning streak.

The winning skein of the Mill Streeters have given them plenty of confidence as at one time, they were practically considered out of the race when Franklin held a 3 and one-half games lead.

Wigham To Hurt
There is no doubt that Bill Wigham will do the twirling for the Auto Boys contingent. Wigham has won 18 games and lost 3. He also has a winning streak of six straight games and has a scoreless innings pitching record of twenty-two.

Manager Jim Capecci will send

Joe Frank behind the plate and use Chuck Klein at first base. Joe Sallustio will be at second and Ray Pierandozzi on third. Shortstop will be taken care of by Tony Cauti. Left field spot will be guarded by Fred Costantino with Horace Saxton in center and Charlie Uhland in right.

Stansky To Mound

"Chick" Stansky is due to throw for Franklin in its effort to salvage first place. Stansky did well in relief against the Auto Boys team in their last meeting. Stansky's record is 13 wins and 4 defeats.

Barney Ludwig will do the receiving while the infield will be composed of Bob Lattanzi, Sonny Field, Toby Oriola, and Tony Palumbo. The outfield may be composed of Nate Chichiletti, Fred Clotti, and Joe Cialella with Manager Bert Barbetta holding himself, Lou Pizzullo, Lou Russo, and Jim Whyao in reserve.

Balloons Herald 'Light Up the Sky'

LANGHORNE, Aug. 24 — "Light up the Sky," heralded with floating balloons all over Bridgetown Pike, the location of the Langhorne Players Barn, is shaping into "a really wonderful show," the Players claim.

The opening night on August 26 will have people wanting to come back again on August 28 and 29 to see this comedy of sophistication all over," they add.

"Light up the Sky," as written by Moss Hart, is claimed a good bet for that pre-holiday weekend, with such old favorites as Edith McKinley, Edith Keil, Ruth Brown, Malcolm Stewart, and Quentin Maitha as members of the cast. Newcomers to add the spark of freshness to the comedy are Donald Walter, Barry Raikie, Charles Sutton, David Koenitzer, Durt Klockenthoer, Gordon Stout, and Jean Coffee.

Three industrial scientists report that stale bread is just as easy to digest as fresh bread. The trio made a series of tests while seeking a way to slow down the staling process.

Auto Boys, Franklin To Compete For Title

The regular season championship of the Bristol Softball League will be at stake this evening on Memorial field as Auto Boys meet Franklin A. C. Game will begin at six o'clock.

The two contenders for the crown ended their season with 19 wins and 6 defeats. At the present, the Auto Boys team is riding the crest of a six-game winning streak.

The winning skein of the Mill Streeters have given them plenty of confidence as at one time, they were practically considered out of the race when Franklin held a 3 and one-half games lead.

Wigham To Hurl

There is no doubt that Bill Wigham will do the twirling for the Auto Boys contingent. Wigham has won 18 games and lost 3. He also has a winning streak of six straight games and has a scoreless innings pitching record of twenty-two.
